Future of Consolidation Referendum Will be Decided Upon September 19

On Thursday, September 19, Superior Court Judge Philip Carchman will rule on the future of Princeton's consolidation referendum. It became uncertain if consolidation would go before the voters on Election Day when it was discovered less than two weeks ago that the Mercer County clerk had not been asked to place the question on the ballot.

As of September 2, neither the Borough nor Township municipal clerk had filed the question with the county clerk, a procedure that is required to place it on the ballot. In addition, the Consolidation Commission had not met its statutory responsibility of sending a copy of the commission report to the county clerk. The report recommended the consolidation of Princeton Borough and Princeton Township.

Both Penney Carter, the Borough clerk, and Pat Shuss, her Township counterpart, said they believed that the Consolidation Commission's filing of the report with the County was sufficient to get the question on the ballot. Neither was aware that this had not been done.

"The State consolidation statute has a lot of holes in it," Borough Attorney Michael Herbert told Mayor and Council at their meeting last Tuesday night. "One of these is that there is no provision in the law as to when the municipal clerk has to file for the ballot."

He said the county clerk had taken the position that the ballot filing must be done 74 days before the election. Mr. Herbert, however, argued that the 74-day period applies only to a non-binding referendum and that this requirement does not appear in the State consolidation statute.

By law, any referendum must be filed at least 43 days before Election Day so it can be printed on the ballot, Mr. Herbert explained. "The question is, where between 74 and 43 days is the appropriate time for the consolidation question?" Both municipal clerks filed the consolidation referendum with the county clerk last Tuesday.

Corinne Kyle, president of One Princeton, a citizens' group that supports consolidation, said the group was moving ahead and preparing literature. But the uncertainty of the situation may mean that its

Hulfish Street Psychic Sought by Police; Charged with Fraud in $120,000 Theft

Claire Miller, or "Miss Claire" as she then identified herself, did not give her last name and refused to be photographed for a TOWN TOPICS article in January of 1994. The piece focused on her recently-opened "Psychic Boutique" at 4-6 Hulfish Street, and because it seemed to be part of her professional image, her desire to remain a bit mysterious was respected.

More than 2½ years later, her secretiveness has started to look more sinister. The Borough Police Department issued an arrest warrant for Ms. Miller on Monday, alleging that through various credit card scams she defrauded a client out of

Weller Tract Receives Committee's Approval As Recreation Area

Township Committee voted unanimously Monday night to authorize a bond ordinance in the amount of $2 million to purchase the Weller tract and develop it as a recreation park.

Because it involved a major capital expenditure, four affirmative votes were needed to pass the ordinance. Committeeman Carl Mayor was away, but the four other members of Committee voted "yes" after each had made brief statements saying why they planned to vote as they did.

The vote came after a lengthy public hearing, the second on this ordinance, which was held in Community Park School auditorium because the Township meeting room was deemed unsafe from a fire safety point for the overflow crowd that was expected. All seats were filled and there were many people standing, although none seated on the floor as there had been at the previous public hearing.

The decision to adopt the bond ordinance paves the way for the Township to enter into a contract with the estate of the late Jac Weller, owner of the property, to purchase it. Township Attorney Edwin Schmierer told the audience that the estate had been "extremely patient and very cooperative," allowing Township consultants to $120,000 over the past 13 months.

According to police, Ms. Miller somehow convinced her victim to obtain no fewer than 14 credit cards in his own name, and used the cards to obtain for herself $108,000 in cash advances. Another $12,000 was charged to the victim's accounts in various ways. Some of the money was taken in payment for services at the Psychic Boutique, and some was used to purchase goods and services elsewhere. A police list of the cards showed at least one Discover Card, several Visas, and store credit cards from establishments like The obtaining a credit card under false pretenses.

Police did not release the name of the man Miller is accused of defrauding. They said only that he is an unemployed 44-year-old, who lists addresses in Falls Village, Conn., and Cliffside Park.

According to police, the victim made "numerous" visits to Miller over the time in which the fraud took place. Police said that he seemed to regard his sessions with her as some sort of therapy. In the light of comments made by Miller in the 1994 Town Topics article, that is not so surprising.

"All my readings are private and confidential," she is quoted as saying. "I try to satisfy my customers, and I put in a lot of time and effort to help them, as much as is in my power to do so...It is really quite a responsibility. Some even think of it as therapy — psychic therapy."

In the article, Miller reported that while originally from Florida, she had moved to Princeton after having worked for some time out of her home in New York City. She maintained that she had been aware of her psychic abilities from an early age, and said that both her mother and grandmother had been psychics.

Claiming expertise in Tarot and Rune card reading, astrology, crystals, regression, and soulmates (past lives), as well as simple psychic readings, Miller charged $20 and more per reading.

"Using my ability," she said, "I receive vibrations from the person. I use my own method of reading the palm and the cards."

Miller also sold crystals, special candles, posters, and books. For $150 to $175, she prepared personal astrological charts.

An Odd Neighbor

The Psychic Boutique on Witherspoon Street has been closed for several weeks, but at least one of Ms. Miller's neighbors, an unidentified employee in a nearby store, remembered her as "strange."

She reported that Ms. Miller would make large purchases at area stores such as Gap Kids and Banana Republic, and have someone call the store and pay for the purchases by credit card. The clothing would then be delivered to Ms. Miller.

Managers at both Gap Kids and Banana Republic seemed to recognize Ms. Miller's name, but refused to discuss any dealings they may have had with her, saying that it was against company policy.

She was known as Claire Miller in Princeton, said police, but according to her victim, she used several different first names, including Selena, Debbie, and Dorothy.

members will not hit the streets exactly when they had planned.

"If the vote is not going to take place on November 5, we can't have lots of literature suggesting we vote for consolidation on November 5," said Ms. Kyle.

Alan Karcher, chairman of the Mercer County Democratic Committee and a Borough resident, is the attorney representing those opposed to consolidation.

At the August 13 meeting of Borough Council, Kate Warren brought up two legal questions that she said Mr. Karcher had brought to the attention of Preserve Our Historic Borough, an anti-consolidation group led by Ms. Warren.

She told Mayor and Council that the State's consolidation statute was in conflict with the mandate that all public questions be voted for by ballots that provide the choice "yes" or "no."

In addition, said Ms. Warren, the consolidation law fails to provide for the required interpretative statement on the ballot.

Free Parking

In other business, Borough Council granted a request by Borough Merchants for Princeton to provide free Saturday metered parking on Nassau and other streets in the Central Business District on the five Saturdays before Christmas. This continues a practice of many years' standing, with the Borough agreeing to forgo its meter revenue on these Saturdays as its contribution to the holiday season.

Council also gave the merchants' group permission to hang holiday wreaths and garlands from Thanksgiving through January 7, and gave its approval to having week-end carriage rides and strolling musicians during the holiday period.

Finally, Council appointed Robert D. McChesney to the Bicycle Advisory Committee and Mildred Trotman as Council liaison to the Princeton Alcohol and Drug Alliance.

Planning Board Hears Arguments Against Requiring Public Paths on Private Land

The developer of Rushbrook, a 24-lot subdivision off Pretty Brook Road and Stuart Road West, came before the Planning Board last Thursday seeking permission to remove three walking paths that had been imposed as conditions of preliminary approval.

The paths, which run between lot lines at three different places in the proposed 108-acre development, would allow additional public access to Woodfield Reservation, which abuts the development on the north. Tom Jamieson, attorney for the Georges deMenil Trusts, owner of the property, sought to make the point that there is a "constitutional" issue involved in that requiring public access paths constitutes an unconstitutional "taking" of private property without just compensation and is illegal under the New Jersey municipal land use law.

"This is a question of whether or not the Board has authority to impose these paths," Mr. Jamieson said at the outset. "It is not a matter of whether the paths are a good idea, or that they are convenient. It is whether the board can require the taking of private property without compensation."

TOPICS Of the Town

Board members questioned whether they should be listening to this argument, since it is a legal one. "Are we wasting our time?" Alain Kornhauser asked. Planning Board Attorney Allen Porter responded by saying that the applicant "has set this up as a constitutional issue and has the right to make a record so if they appeal there is a record. We should proceed."

Mr. Jamieson called on Hal Hoeland of Princeton Development Group, developer of the property, to describe the history of the application, which stretched over two years and involved a court decision calling for a rehearing. From that rehearing came a decision by the Planning Board that the four lots approved in the section off Stuart Road West were too many. The applicant was asked to come back with a concept plan for a re-design of that area.

Emergency Access

The re-design was for three lots and a longer cul-de-sac. The Board asked that the cul-de-sac be shortened and that the detention basin be reduced. It also asked that emergency access between the two parts of the development be included. That emergency access, part of which is on an already cleared water line, could also double as a bikepath/walking path and as such was part of the discussion about removal of public access walking paths at the discussion on Thursday.

Jamieson then called on Gerald Lenaz, a professional planner and principal in Lenaz Mueller & Associates, to give expert testimony on the proposed pathways. Mr.

Lenaz said he had reviewed the Township's pathways policy and the Master Plan, and he had visited Woodfield and its existing and proposed access points. He noted that with the recent dedication of a walkway by the Pond View developer adjacent to Rushbrook, and the proposed dedication by the Rushbrook developer of a conservation easement encompassing two ponds along Pretty Brook Road, there would be three entrances to Woodfield.

One is from The Great Road West, another is from

TRENTON ROUNDUP

Canal Bridges Need Work

A safety commission appointed by the State Legislature is expected to ask for more than $11 million in state funds to overhaul at least 25 of the Delaware & Raritan Canal's bridges and install guardrails on roads parallel to the canal.

The commission's report on the canal does not specify, however, which of the canal's 57 bridges should be fixed.

The safety commission also proposes an annual increase of $1 million in the budget of the 3,600-acre D&R Canal State Park, where it says attendance is skyrocketing and improvements are needed.

The 44-mile canal runs from the Delaware River in Bordentown to the Raritan River in New Brunswick.

Free AIDS Drug

State health officials have announced that new medications, known as protease inhibitors, will be added to the list of other medications that the State purchases for patients enrolled in the AIDS Drug Distribution Program.

The program is for AIDS patients who earn too much to be eligible for Medicaid but who otherwise could not afford the medicines prescribed for them.

Health Department Spokeswoman Rita Manno said similar drug distribution programs in other states have gone broke as a result of a high demand for protease inhibitors, which are very costly. New Jersey would consider imposing co-payments, she said, if unexpectedly high numbers of patients in the program are prescribed the new drugs by their doctors.

Best Month in Casino History

August was the best month in the 18-year history of legalized gambling in New Jersey, according to casino officials.

Casinos won $374 million from bettors, a 3.1 percent increase over August 1995.

The existing record for monthly revenue was $368.4 million, in July 1995.

Rushbrook Paths

Drake Corner Road, and the third would be via the Pond View pathway. He said the Rushbrook developer was willing to enhance the entrance from Drake Corner Road and to accelerate the dedication of the triangular Tent Rock acreage at the time of final approval for Phase I rather than at the time of Phase II final approval.

Mr. Lenaz sought to make the point that the "burden" the required pathways place on the development is disproportionate to the benefit it would bring to Woodfield Reservation. "This board takes seriously bikeways and pathways," Bill Enslin, chairman of the Planning Board, told him. Mr. Lenaz said there was no indication in the Master Plan's circulation plan of small linkages such as the three short paths that are being required in this development.

Drows Titters

He pointed out that Woodfield already has three access points and that it was designed so that the further one walks into its western interior, the more remote and tranquil it becomes. He drew titters from the audience and cynicism from the board when he said that meeting a walker coming in the opposite direction, from one of the access points posed by the pathways in question, would disturb that tranquility.

When Mr. Lenaz suggested that removing the paths from the plan would enhance the reservation, Planning Board member Margen Penick countered by asking "What causes more damage to the environment, these paths or this development?"

Mr. Enslin interrupted the Rushbrook application so that the Planning Board could review three ordinances that had been forwarded to it by Township Committee. When discussion was resumed, members of the public were given a chance to comment. Helmut Schwab, a walker and member of the Friends of Princeton Open Space, recommended that the emergency access road be kept and that it also be a bikepath/walkway and that the pathway from the Stuart Road West section of the tract be retained but not the other two. However he suggested that a way be found to create a path through the Bryce Thompson land so that there could be a link from Cradle Rock to Woodfield.

Wendy Mager, president of the Friends of Princeton Open Space, took issue with the distinction Mr. Lenaz made between impinging public paths in public right-of-ways, which he said was proper, and impinging them on private property, which he characterized as improper.

Lynne Bush pointed out that Pretty Brook Road is too dangerous to expect someone, particularly families with young children, to walk on from Stuart Road West to reach the public access to Woodfield at Pond View. She told the developer, "You are using town facilities, town water and sewer, and it is a shame to deny the rest of the town access" to Woodfield by these paths.

The discussion will be continued as part of the Planning Board's agenda on Thursday, September 19.

First View of New Palmer Stadium

Princeton University football has called Palmer Stadium home since October 24, 1914, when the Tigers defeated Dartmouth 16-12. After 82 years of faithful service, Palmer will bow out this November, after one more Dartmouth game.

A new, intimate facility is in the final stages of design. Palmer Stadium's successor, designed by architect Rafael Vinoly, will feature state-of-the-art engineering while preserving the tradition that has colored the game-day experience for generations of Princeton fans.

"We in the Princeton community are sorry to see Palmer age," Director of Athletics Gary D. Walters '67 says. We will keep as much of Palmer's history intact as possible and combine it with the latest in architectural design, creating one of the finest stadiums in the nation."

The $45 million project is scheduled to begin in the spring of 1997 and be concluded in time for the 1998 football campaign. As a result, Princeton will not have a home outdoor track and field season this spring nor a 1997 home football season.

The new stadium will have a capacity of approximately 30,000 and be a two-tiered structure. A building will form the outer perimeter of the facility, thus maintaining Palmer's recognizable horseshoe design. The stadium will have natural turf and be able to accommodate not only football, but also soccer and lacrosse.

The eight-lane Olympic track, however, will not surround the football field as it does today, but instead will be constructed on Frelinghuysen Field, located between the stadium and Jadwin Gymnasium.

There will be a common structure between the new stadium and the track, creating an athletic complex that allows for seating at each facility. The track area will have seating for an estimated 2,500 spectators.

The expectations of a new stadium are extremely exciting," Princeton football coach Steve Tosches says. At the same time, I have some mixed emotions. We have been tremendously successful in Palmer, and the 1997 season will be a year in transition, especially for our seniors. But this project is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. This is going to be a first-class facility that will have a long-term effect on Princeton football."

The original plan was to construct a new facility between the 1997 and 1998 football seasons. But in recent months it became apparent that the construction schedule was overly ambitious, especially with the decision to relocate the track outside the main stadium and the adopted wall-building design.

The location of the track requires that the stadium move about 70 feet to the north, thus causing extensive site preparation and foundation work. Additionally, the wall-building requires more than the initial nine-month construction period.

The current design would require significant demolition in the fall of 1997, and without adjusting the construction schedule, there was a strong possibility that the 1998 season would be in a facility not yet complete. To ensure that the 1998 season will not be disturbed, the 1997 home schedule will be relocated, thus eliminating the risk of disrupting two football seasons for Princeton's athletes and its fans.

As a result, the Department of Athletics is considering a variety of options for the 1997 football season, including playing consecutive away games against some opponents and seeking possible neutral-site venues.

Canoe the Crosswicks With D&R Greenway

Delaware & Raritan Greenway is sponsoring a canoe trip at the Hamilton/Trenton Marsh on Sunday, September 22, from 10 to 2. Tom Wilkins and members of the Mohawk Canoe Club will lead the trip. The registration deadline is Friday, September 13.

The Hamilton/Trenton Marsh spans over 1,250 acres and includes several ponds, five creeks, the Delaware & Raritan Canal and the Delaware River. The marsh harbors a bounty of natural resources, including many diverse habitats, more than 700 species of plants, 234 species of birds and many more mammals, reptiles and amphibians. Steeped in history, the Marsh includes the Abbott Farm National Historic Landmark where indigenous tribes once thrived.

The trip is open to the public, but registration is limited. The cost to rent a canoe is $20 per member and $25 per nonmember. There is a $5 registration fee for those who bring their own canoe.

Singles will be matched with partners when possible. For more information and to register call 452-0525.

Borough Man Caught Returning to Scene Of Elm Club Burglary

A 28-year-old Borough man was charged with burglary and theft and criminal trespass on Friday, after being caught in the Elm Club on Prospect Avenue. Derek R. Cottrell, of 47 Clay Street and 2 Chestnut Street, was apprehended by several male University students, after a female student living in the club found him in her ransacked room.

According to police, the victim entered her room shortly before 12:47 a.m., and found the contents of a duffel bag had been dumped on the floor. Assuming that a thief had been in the room, she immediately dialed 911. As she hung up the phone and turned around, she saw Mr. Cottrell entering the room.

Mr. Cottrell was detained by the male students, and police arrived shortly thereafter. He was placed under arrest, and a small amount of stolen money was found on his person. A search of his Chestnut Street residence uncovered $2,380 worth of stereo and camera equipment that had been stolen from the room.

Police speculated that Mr. Cottrell had burgled the room earlier in the evening, and was returning to the Elm Club to collect more loot.

Memory Fitness

The YWCA Princeton is offering a new class entitled, "Mind and Memory Fitness in the Later Years: The 'Use It or Lose It' Syndrome."

Phil Bruschi of Mind Aerobics will teach participants new strategies and techniques for sharper recall and better retention. This program will be helpful for senior citizens and people who work with older adults in the health care field. The class will meet on Thursday, September 26 from 6:45 to 9:15 p.m. in the Brainwell House living room.

The fee is $18 for YWCA members and $22 for non-members. To register, call 497-2100.

Cottrell had burgled the room earlier in the evening, and was returning to the Elm Club to collect more loot.

There were several other cases of burglary and theft at the University reported. In one instance, a student in Blair Hall was awakened at 4:30 a.m. on Saturday by a burglar going through the personal effects on his desk.

The suspect fled when the victim awoke. He is described as a 6' tall white male, in his early 20's with brown hair. He wore tan shorts and a white t-shirt. Police believe that he entered the room through a broken window.

A $2,500 Macintosh powerbook computer was stolen from Room 305 Aaron Burr Hall between 3 p.m. on September 5 and 1:30 p.m. on September 6.

Harassment Arrests

Police arrested a 67-year-old Nassau Street man on harassment charges last Thursday, alleging that on several occasions he threw urine on the front door of a Nassau Street food store.

Houssam E. Khalil, of 246 Nassau Street, had been charged with the same offense a week before, and was only arrested after he persisted in repeating his actions. Police reported that he brought a cup full of urine to the store, and threw it on the door. The owner of the store, which police would not specifically identify, reported that Mr. Khalil had been doing this for some time.

No reason was given for Mr. Khalil's remarkable behavior. He was due in court Tuesday, but did not appear before the judge.

A Delaware man was charged with harassment after making an obscene comment to a 6-year-old South Brunswick girl on Nassau Street Saturday. Police report that the victim and her family had just purchased ice cream cones, and were walking down the street when they were approached by the suspect.

He made a comment to the girl, which police elected not to disclose, prompting her father to move toward a pay phone to call the police. As he did so, the subject grabbed him in what police described as a "bear hug" and tried to prevent him from making the call. He was not successful, and police arrived shortly afterward.

Arrested and charged was Wallace L. Norberg, 53, of Dover, Del. He was released with a summons to appear in court on September 16.

Book Signing and Talk By Princeton Historian

Nell Painter, Edwards Professor of American History at Princeton University, will talk about her new book Sojourner Truth: A Life, A Symbol Tuesday, September 17, at 4 at the Princeton University Store. A book signing will follow the talk.

Sojourner Truth, ex-slave and fiery abolitionist, figure of imposing physique, riveting preacher and spellbinding singer became a national symbol for strong black women — indeed for all strong women. Like Harriet Tubman and Frederick Douglass, she is regarded as a radical of immense and enduring influence; yet unlike them, what is remembered of her consists more of myth than of historical fact.

Ms. Painter's previous books include Standing at Armageddon: The United States 1877-1919; Exodusters: Black Migration to Kansas After Reconstruction; and The Narrative of Hosea Hudson.

Township Boy Arrested For Shooting at Truck

A 17-year-old Township boy was arrested on August 30, after he shot at a moving company's truck with an air rifle following a dispute with its occupants.

According to police, the incident took place the day prior to the boy's arrest. Employees of the moving company were working at the boy's home in the Bouvant Drive area. They became involved in a dispute with the owners of the house — police described it as a "civil matter" — and were pulling away when the boy shot at them.

Police reported that the gun fired either a BB or a pellet at a fairly high velocity, striking the cowling of the 1990 Freightliner cab and leaving a "gouge." The victims reported the incident later that day, and the boy was arrested about 24 hours later.

The matter was turned over to the juvenile officer. The boy is charged with criminal mischief, but may face weapons possession charges as well.

A door-to-door salesman was arrested near Cuyler Road Monday, and charged with canvassing without a permit. Lamont King, 31, of Washington, D.C., was selling book subscriptions for a company that police said they had warned repeatedly about the canvassing statutes.

Mr. King was released on $200 bail, and was expected to appear in court Tuesday evening.

On August 31, someone with an air gun cracked a window in a house in the 200 block of Moore Street. The victims heard the window break from the impact of the pellet at 11:02 p.m.

The damage was estimated at $20.

In a similar incident on Shady Brook Lane between September 2 and 3, an air gun was used to crack a 4'x2' window in a residence. No value was given.

Deportation Arrest

Agents of the Immigration and Naturalization Service attempted to serve a warrant for deportation on a Linden Lane man last Friday, but couldn't find him. They turned the job over to the Township police, who had him in custody later that evening.

Officers put a watch on the Mercury Topaz registered to 21-year-old Miguel O. Vasquez, and when they saw a man get into it and drive through a stop sign near Leigh Avenue, they pulled it over. The driver was not Mr. Vasquez, but he led police to him.

Mr. Vasquez was found in his Linden Lane residence, and placed under arrest. The Township police turned him over to the INS.

A 1992 Honda belonging to a visitor to South Stanworth Drive was the target of a burglar between 7 p.m. Friday and 8:30 a.m. Saturday. The Basking Ridge resident returned to his parked car to find that someone had unsuccessfully tried to pry open one of the doors.

No entry was gained, but the door and window were damaged.

At 12:05 a.m. on September 7, an unidentified person threw a brick through the windshield of a 1983 Chevrolet parked on Clay Street.

The vehicle belongs to a Clay Street resident. No damage estimate was available.

In an act of criminal mischief, someone smashed the rear window of a 1995 Dodge parked in the McLean Street lot between 7 p.m.

Papers at Mudd Library On Russia in Revolution

The papers of one of the few Americans to witness several key events of the Russian Revolution are now available at Princeton University's Mudd Manuscript Library.

Clinton A. Decker travelled to Russia as part of the American Advisory Commission of Railway Experts to Russia (AACRER) (1917) and later became a member of the Inter-Allied Technical Board (1917-1921). Both organizations were active in Russia at the time of its revolution. The Clinton A. Decker Papers contain personal and business correspondence and photographs documenting his travels in Russia, China, and Japan.

Donated by his son, Charles Decker, much correspondence is to Clinton Decker's future wife, Gertrude V. O'Brien. The letters describe Decker's activities as a member of the AACRER and reveal his perspective on revolutionary Russia from 1917 to 1919. Included are detailed descriptions of Vladivostok, Harbin, and an account of the July Riots (July Days) in Petrograd, as well as a description of the Cossacks (and their leader Grigori Semenov) and their role in the revolution.

The Commission, led by John F. Stevens, was created by President Woodrow Wilson to assist Russia's Provisional Government by improving the TransSiberian and Chinese Eastern Railways. Coming to power after the February Revolution and amidst the fighting of World War I, the Provisional Government needed to supply the troops on the front to demonstrate that it was able to defend Russia from the German threat.

After the collapse of the Provisional Government and the new Bolshevik government ended Russian involvement in World War I, several Commission members, including Decker, went to Japan to await the arrival of the Russian Railway Service Corps (RRSC). The RRSC was an Army Reserve unit of railway experts invited by the Provisional Government to assist Russian railway opera-

Free Flu Shots Are Available For Seniors and the Disabled

The Princeton Senior Resource Center, in conjunction with the Princeton Regional Health Department, will again provide flu shots to the first 750 senior citizens and disabled persons who register. The flu shots will be given at the Suzanne Patterson Center, located behind Borough Hall, on Thursday, October 3 from 1 to 4 and again on Thursday, October 17, from 1 to 4. Appointments are necessary. call the Senior Resource Center at 924-7108. Ample parking is available at Morven, adjacent to the Suzanne Patterson Center.

It is recommended that all persons over age 60 have a flu shot, especially those with respiratory and cardiac problems. Persons with severe allergies to eggs should consult their physician.

Medicare will reimburse local health departments for providing flu shots. Participants should bring their Medicare card when they come for the flu shot. The appropriate forms can then be completed for reimbursement.

Persons over the age of 75 who have a history of respiratory illness may be a candidate for the pneumonia vaccine. A limited supply is available for high-risk individuals. tions. The Inter-Allied Technical Board was then formed by Stevens under the U.S. State Department to place the RRSC along the railway to protect Allied interests. Stevens was made president of the Board and Decker the Board's secretary.

Decker returned to the United States in November 1919 and became the U.S. Representative to the Technical Board in Washington, D.C. The Board dissolved after the last Allied troops left Siberia in 1922.

Decker left the State Department in 1923 and moved to Lynbrook, N.Y., where he established an electrical contracting business. He married Gertrude O'Brien in 1920, and they had six children. He died in 1952. Most of this correspondence has been published in Mission to Russia: An American Journal (edited by Charles J. Decker, New York: 1994).

The business correspondence focuses on John F. Steven's work as president of the Inter-Allied Technical Board for which Decker served as secretary. Much of the correspondence discusses the Japanese presence in the region and the Allies' role in the internal conflicts of Russia. Also included are several detailed accounts of disturbances along the rail line such as impounding equipment and the harassment and murder of passengers.

The collection is available at the Seeley G. Mudd Manuscript Library which is open Monday through Friday, 9 to

5. Wednesday evenings the library is open until 8. The Mudd Library is located at 65 Olden Street. For information, call 258-6345.

Evening Woodland Walk In McBurney Preserve

Delaware & Raritan Greenway will sponsor an early evening woodland walk along the trails at McBurney Woods Preserve within the Northern Stony Brook Greenway in East Amwell and Hopewell Townships on Tuesday, September 17, at 5:30 p.m.

Ted Stiles, a professor of biological sciences at Rutgers University, the director of the Hutcheson Memorial Forest Center at Rutgers University, and vice chair of D&R Greenway, will lead the walk to highlight the interactions between plants and animals and the importance of woodland habitats.

The Northern Stony Brook Greenway contains 261 acres atop the Sourland Mountain including the McBurney Woods Preserve and the Marino Woods. The greenway is part of an unbroken chain of woods that create a vital and vibrant habitat for flora and fauna. Three trails have been cleared with the help of volunteers.

The walk is open to the public. The cost is $2 per person or $4 per family for members and $4 per person or $8 per family for nonmembers. The group size is limited and reservations are required. Call 924-4646.

THE PUBLIC IS INVITED to tour this house at 902 Bellevue Avenue, Trenton, home of Michael and Bobbie Calvo, which is one of several fine homes in the Cadwalader Heights section of Trenton which will be part of the annual house and garden tour to be held Saturday, September 14, from noon to five.

Stately Trenton Homes Focus of Walking Tour

Nine of Trenton's most stately houses will be open to the public, rain or shine, on Saturday, September 14, from 12 noon to 5 during a walking tour of the city's Cadwalader Heights neighborhood.

Residents of Cadwalader Heights invite the public to take advantage of the opportunity to view nine grand homes of English Tudor, Georgian, Victorian, and Colonial revival style and four beautifully landscaped gardens in one of Trenton's premier neighborhoods overlooking historic Cadwalader Park. Many homes in this historical neighborhood have been recognized by the Trenton Landmarks Commission for their contribution to the historic character of the city. The formal gardens feature fountains, fish ponds, gazebos, wrought-iron fences, and brick and stone paths.

Several homes will be on the tour for the first time. A home on Ivy Court has enjoyed a complete interior renovation and sits on a hill overlooking the Delaware and Raritan canal. Two stately red-bricked Colonial-revival homes on Whittier Avenue are in the process of being refurbished and restored.

A grand colonial home on Parkside Avenue which boasts Doric columns in the entry hall and vaulted ceilings in the living and dining rooms will be featured. A 1925 Georgian colonial — featured on earlier tours as a work-in-progress — has been completely restored to its former elegance. This home features a magnificent three-story open staircase and a dining room with original sterling-silver chandelier and wall sconces.

One of the oldest houses on the tour, a gabled Victorian on Belmont Circle, boasts a wrap-around porch, Eastlake living room, bow windows, and two bathrooms with original Trenton tile.

Participants will be able to see the Civil War enactment by the Camp Olden Civil War Round Table. Uniformed soldiers will be seen throughout the neighborhood, and will perform drills by the historic Swamp Angel cannon in Cadwalader Park. This cannon was influential in the North winning the battle at Charleston.

Cadwalader Park and Cadwalader Heights neighborhood were designed and laid out at the turn of the century by Frederick Law Olmsted, designer of many of America's outstanding parks and gardens. In the heart of the park is Ellarslie, the Trenton City Museum, which will be open during the house tour.

Tickets, priced at $7, will be available on the day of the tour at the Cadwalader Asbury United Methodist Church, located at the corner of Stuyvesant and Whittier avenues. Proceeds from the tour will benefit neighborhood preservation projects. The church will be open for tours and participants will have the opportunity to hear the church's pipe organ in concert. Church members will sell food and beverages.

For further information and a brochure, call 394-5864.

May We Suggest?...

Before you turn up the heat, your wood furniture may need some attention.

The evenings are growing cooler and soon we will be enjoying crackling fires in the warmth of our homes. But after our hot and humid summer, if we blast out the hot, dry furnace air, panels can shrink, veneers pop, and joints open as wood and glues respond to the drastic environmental change.

We suggest gradually increasing your house temperature over two to four weeks to an optimal 70 degrees with a relative humidity between 40 to 60%.

Fall waxing and maintenance of furniture and wooden interiors, also helps wood adjust to seasonal changes. We can come to your home and help with waxing, repairs or any of your furniture restoration needs. Call us for an appointment today — before you turn up the heat!

Alumni of '77 have pledged up to $20,000 and will work with the Princeton Habitat Committee to raise the remaining funds for this renovation, as well as for renovation of future Princeton-Habitat homes.

The Borough has donated the house to Habitat and will pay for its demolition. The Borough will also waive certain permit fees. The Borough acquired the house for $30,000 and is spending an additional $15,000 for demolition and other expenses.

will be taken down to the floor deck. Some architectural features will be saved and become part of the new house, which is expected to be completed by December of 1997.

Habitat houses are built with donations of labor, material and cash from private individuals, churches, synagogues, corporations and foundations. Volunteers work side by side with the partner families who are the low-income families selected to become the future homeowners of the Habitat house.

After a partner family completes 500 hours of "sweat equity," it becomes eligible to purchase a completed house from Habitat with a no-interest 20-year mortgage. Mortgage payments are designated for the construction of more homes in the area.

Habitat-Princeton plans to move forward on other houses in Princeton Borough and the Township.

Habitat-Trenton, which has rebuilt more than 20 homes in East Trenton, is the local affiliate of Habitat-International and the parent organization for the Habitat-Princeton project. The project is a cooperative venture also with the University's Class of 1977 and the Princeton University Habitat for Humanity student volunteer organization, as well as volunteers from the community and the University faculty and staff.

For more information call Tom Leyden, 298-8768 or Pam Hersh, 258-3018. Those interested in volunteering should call Julie Newton at 683-5207.

FARMLAND PRESERVATION Act

Government dollars aren't the only ones that preserve open land. As consumers, the way we choose to spend our dollars goes a long way toward determining the quality of our local landscape.

One of the best ways to help preserve farmland in the Garden State is to support your local organic farmer. You'll also help to protect the environment, support the local economy, and keep small farming viable in the nation's most densely populated state. In return, you'll get fresh, delicious produce that has traveled a few short minutes — not a few thousand miles.

The Whole Earth Center has a long-standing commitment to supporting local organic farming. We get to know our local growers and work with them to bring our customers the best of the Organic Garden State. We invite you to stop in today and find out how good food really tastes!

To learn more about the benefits of local organic agriculture, visit NOFA-NJ's 6th Annual Organic Country Fair on Saturday, September 21st in Pennington. For more information, call (609) 737-6848.

Early Student Scrapbooks On View at Exhibit

A new exhibit at Princeton University's Mudd Manuscript Library, "Recall Those Days of Gladness: Autograph books and Scrapbooks from the 19th Century," features items that Princeton students used to capture memories of their time at the College of New Jersey.

The autograph books are filled with good wishes from fellow students, some of whom, like Woodrow Wilson, would go on to great renown. Others contain observations that reflect the fact that in some ways, college students are still the same. "No more of this old set of fogies," wrote one student to another in 1856 commenting on the faculty. Those from the Civil War era display students' deep allegiances not only to their states and the cause of Union or secession, but also to one another.

The scrapbooks on display contain mementoes and keepsakes from the era, including Confederate currency, the first black and orange ribbons used by student athletes, dance cards and invitations, as well as course exams and schedules. One intriguing item kept by Henry Cook, Class of 1871, is the removable cuffs he wore to a logic exam — with all of the semester's syllogisms written on them. Other items document the rivalry between classes.

The Class of 1900 produced a flyer belittling the older yet unlucky Class of 1899 whom it defeated in various campus events: "The baseball game, the rush, the spree/They lost each one, they lost all three/And if there'd been but one thing more/They surely would have lost all four."

The exhibit is supplemented with early photographs and is open Monday through Friday, 8:30 to 4:30. Wednesday evenings the library is open until 8. The Mudd Library is located at 65 Olden Street. For more information, call 258-6345.

Measuring Achievement Top of ETS Lecture

Dr. Lorrie Shepard will present the third annual William H. Angoff Memorial Lecture, "Measuring Achievement: What Does It Mean to Test for Robust Understanding?", Thursday, September 19 at 3 in the Chauncey Conference Center at Educational Testing Service.

Dr. Shepard is professor of research and evaluation methodology in the School of Education at the University of Colorado. Her research focuses on psychometrics and the use and misuse of tests in educational settings. She has written on test bias, standard-setting, the influence of testing on instruction, teacher testing, the identification of mild handicaps, and early childhood assessment. She is vice-president of the National Academy of Education and co-chair of the National Educational Goals Panel Early Childhood Assessment Resource Group.

The lecture series honors Mr. Angoff, a distinguished research scientist at ETS for more than 40 years, who died in 1993. A scholar working on the leading edge of educational measurement will be invited to lecture each fall as part of the series. The lectures also will be published by ETS.

The event is free and open to the public. To attend, call Madeline Moritz at 734-5035.

Campaign for Peddie Provides New Facilities

The Peddie School began its 132nd academic year with full enrollment for boarding and day students, a new $9 million campus center and 21st-century classrooms donated by alumni, parents and friends involved in the school's five-year fundraising plan — A Campaign for Peddie.

The school has already raised $7 million towards its goal of $18 million in the next three to four years; funds will be used to build more high-tech classrooms, provide faculty sabbaticals and endowed chairs and launch innovative academic programs. The cornerstone gift came last year from the chairman of the board of trustees, Finn M.W. Caspersen, who donated $2 million for the completion of the new campus center. Over the summer, the school also completed residences for four faculty families, a state-of-the-art all-weather track and an indoor lacrosse facility.

The Campaign for Peddie, the largest in the school's history, was kicked off at the Metropolitan Museum in New York City last fall with Ambassador Walter H. Annenberg '27, who made a landmark $100-million gift to the school in 1993. That gift has continued to boost admissions and has allowed the school to provide generous scholarships to about 50 percent of its student body, giving Peddie the largest financial aid program of its kind in the nation.

Overseeing admissions this year is new director, Michael Gary, who brings with him experience in independent school admissions, teaching and marketing. A graduate of Trinity College with a master's from Harvard University, he most recently served as assistant admissions director at The Poinsett School in Connecticut.

Of the incoming 478 students in grades eight to 12, equally divided between girls and boys, 67 percent are boarders and 33 percent are day students. The school also welcomed 30 international students, the largest group ever, representing 24 countries around the world.

The school has expanded its faculty to 85, adding a new campus center and student activities director and boosting the staff in both the fine arts and admissions departments. Peddie has also invited noted Princeton scholar and professor Henry Drewry to teach one semester of history.

The school broke records in its annual fund campaign this year, boosting alumni giving by four percent and earning $701,000 towards the five-year campaign. The Campaign for Peddie has yielded cash and pledges from more than 100 donors in its first year. About half of the gifts

Princeton Family Center Conference on Education

Emotional issues facing today's world of education will be the focus of the Princeton Family Center for Education's annual conference to be held at 185 Nassau Street by Friday, September 20.

At a time of widespread anxiety about the welfare of children, the expenditure of public funds, and the perceived failures of education, American schools are highly challenged to both define and fulfill their missions. This year's conference will examine the ways in which anxiety drives the emotional side of education in schools and their communities and stimulate participants' thinking about emotional process in schools and society, educational leadership, and applications of Bowen family systems theory in schools.

Conference presenters will be Michael E. Kerr, a psychiatrist and director of the Georgetown Family Center in Washington; Robert L. Felton, coordinator of programs for students with mental retardation in the Montgomery County Public School System; Daniel V. Papero, a PFCE faculty member and the director of training at the Georgetown Family Center; and Roger Dillow, a PFCE faculty member, psychotherapist and mental health consultant to schools.

The conference is open to the public and should be of particular interest to school administrators and teachers, guidance counselors, mental health professionals and parents and parent organization leaders.

The conference will begin at 8:15 with registration and coffee and conclude at 4. For information, call 924-0524.

The class is meeting on Tuesdays through November 26 in the Bramwell House living room. The fee is $80.

The other class, "Bridge for New and Novice Players," is also taught by Donna Prickett; it is also suitable for beginning players (with little or no knowledge of the game) and those who want to update their skills. The class will meet on Thursdays from September 12 through November 14 in the Bramwell House living room.

— She's a very good listener.

Decisions regarding large sums of money can be a challenge. But if you're like most women, you approach financial decisions by marshalling the facts, comparison-shopping, asking questions.

And that's smart business.

Because, while a Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant can help you understand the markets, only you know your financial dreams, goals, and personal investment style. It takes both of us — working together — to develop a financial plan with specific strategies to help you realize those financial dreams.

That's why our Financial Consultants encourage you — and all our clients — to ask as many questions as necessary. Because sound financial planning is a dialogue, not a monologue.

Weller Tract

go on the property and make soil test borings, for instance, but without a contract it could not do any more testing.

Mr. Schmierer said that if problems such as soil contamination were discovered before the final closing the Township would not go forward. He noted that the estate has from the beginning wanted to place restrictions on how the property is used — one of the restrictions being that there be no night lights on the playing fields.

Steering/Advisory Committee

Another provision, Mr. Schmierer said, is that there be a steering/advisory committee that will help draft and guide the plans for the park. This committee would include representatives from the Recreation Board, the executor of the estate and "at least two of the 27 contiguous neighbors" of the Weller tract.

Presumably, the vote will also pave the way for the Green Acres Trust to make good on its informal pledge of a $500,000 grant and $1.5 million low interest loan for the acquisition of the property. The estate had listed the property at $2.5 million. The price informally agreed to with the Township is $1.8 million. Development costs are expected to be covered by a $1 million gift from an anonymous donor.

The vote on whether or not to purchase the Weller tract was one of the biggest and most contentious issues the current Township Committee has had to face. "This issue has consumed me for the last two months," Committeeman Steve Frakt remarked. "I've thought about it day and night, except for two weeks on Nantucket. I recognize the concerns, although I may not agree with them in totality."

Mr. Frakt noted that just a day or so before he and the mayor had walked the backyard of an abutting neighbor at that neighbor's invitation to see first hand how close the park activities would be.

"I favor the acquisition," he continued. "But we must, we must, do any planning and development of the park in concert with the neighbors." Mr. Frakt then spoke to the finances of the acquisition. "It's a bargain," he said, adding that as a member of the Township's Finance Committee he is always looking for ways to enlist private-public partnerships for the good of the community.

Struggle Over Decision

Mayor Tuck-Ponder also acknowledged having struggled over the decision. "I get nervous spending other people's money," she remarked, adding that she was very aware of the other major capital needs in the community. She said that a test for her was to think ahead five years, and "If I can look back and say that this park has benefited Princeton Township children then the right decision is to vote in favor of the bond issue."

Deputy Mayor Phyllis Marchand said she wished she were an 11- or 12-year-old girl who would be growing up "in a community that values open space because of its importance to the environment and to health and recreation." She said that no matter how sensitive a developer is to the environment, the result is still a built environment, not a natural one, with trees.

"I understand the concerns" of the neighbors," Mrs. Marchand said, adding, "I hope their fears tonight will be unfounded."

Committeewoman Roz Denard complimented park opponents as well as advocates. "Both sides spoke their piece so well that I am confident of the vote of approval that I will cast tonight," she said.

Mayor Tuck-Ponder structured the second hearing in the same way she did the first, asking the Township staff and consultants to speak first, followed by the Northeast Princeton Residents Association, the Princeton Soccer Association and then calling on individuals who had signed up on "for" or "against" sheets. Including names of people who did not get to speak at the last hearing because the mayor called a halt at 9, she had some 56 people signed up to speak. Thirty did speak, and of these 18 spoke in favor of the acquisition and development of the Weller tract, and 12 spoke against it.

Township Police Chief Anthony Gaylord was asked to comment on public safety issues. Chief Gaylord said that in the past 2 1/2 years calls for service in the Township's 15 parks totalling some 750 acres were "very few and minor in nature." There is no evidence that residents living closer to parks have a greater incidence of burglaries and criminal activity," he said.

"If the Weller tract were to be purchased as a park it would not be a difficult area to patrol," the chief said, adding that single family homes cause more calls for service through the Police Department than parks do.

Township Administrator Jim Pascale showed a bar chart indicating that Princeton Township has the lowest effective tax rate, adjusted for equalization value, of the 13 Mercer County municipalities, with Princeton Borough the next lowest. Hightstown and Trenton, two municipalities with relatively little open space, were at the top of the chart.

Mr. Pascale also pointed out that the tax share to purchase and develop the Weller tract amounted to only 38 percent of the total cost. Moreover, with the Township municipal tax rate at 37 cents, the debt service for acquiring the property and maintaining it would amount to slightly over one-third of a tax point. Some speakers remarked that this is a meaningless figure, since the Township municipal tax rate changes every year.

Another graphic showed that for the Township home assessed at the 1996 average assessed value of $391,509, paying $1,487.73 in municipal purpose tax, the cost to finance the $2 million bond ordinance for 20 years would amount to $11.75. Adding maintenance at $20,000 (which several speakers found too low) would bring the total additional cost per household to $14.50. This amounts to a one percent increase in annual municipal tax (not to be confused with the overall property tax, which includes school and county taxes as well).

Robert Lord and Scott Taylor of the Baltimore firm that drew up the original concept plan for development of the Weller tract were on hand to describe how the firm goes about planning a park. Mr. Lord listed the criteria which the firm takes into consideration as it approaches designing a park — things like characteristics of the site, needs of the client, neighborhood concerns and budgetary constraints. He said the goal is to be sensitive to the natural environment while meeting community needs and designing a park that will be user friendly, functional and aesthetically pleasing, durable with low maintenance and also addressing safety and liability concerns.

Mr. Taylor described the results of nine soil test borings. He spoke of "rippable shale" which is possible to excavate and "unrippable bedrock," which would require blasting and raise the cost. He said there was 11 inches of topsoil over much of the site, because it had been a farm. "We were happy to find between 17 and 33 inches of ripplable shale," Mr. Taylor said, adding that the boring went down 62 inches before encountering unrippable bedrock. "We have plenty to work with," he remarked.

Mr. Lord summed up: "We feel very confident we could design and build a park within $1 million. Our assignment was to bring it within $1 million, and we feel very confident we can do it."

Northeast Residents' Turn

The two speakers for the Northeast Residents Association that did not get a chance to make their presentation at the previous hearing were given the first opportunity in the public hearing. They were Peter Halstead, 74 Caldwell Drive, and Harold Lowe, Overbrook Drive.

In addition to challenging some of the financial assumptions and costs associated with acquiring and developing the park, Mr. Halstead reiterated his concerns about traffic and the need to widen Snowden Lane. He also startled the Princeton Soccer Association by saying that he had had conversations with a high level Princeton University administrator who had told him that after the year or so it would take to build the Millstone Bypass, Princeton University had "budgeted ample funds to return the [Washington Road] fields to full soccer use."

PSA representatives questioned Mr. Halstead on his source and said that is not how the situation had been represented to them by administrators such as the director of athletics and the vice president for facilities. The seeming discrepancy prompted several speakers to ask for the vote to be postponed until the matter could be clarified with the University.

Mr. Lowe listed fields he felt could be rented for soccer use instead of developing the Weller tract. He included private school fields, corporate grassy areas in other municipalities and open areas at the Institute, Battlefield Park, Tusculum and Community Park north as well as Princeton Regional Schools fields. Summing up for the Northeast Residents, Burr Fisher noted that the organization includes 265 households.

He listed their concerns as noise, night security, loss of property values, objection to setting aside existing zoning, and safety along Snowden Lane and Herrontown Road. "The problems [of developing the fields] are vastly understated," Mr. Fisher said, citing the drainage problem mentioned by Dodds Lane and Overbrook Drive residents as being "really serious."

He presented an additional 45 names to the petition he gave to the Township clerk at the earlier hearing and said the tear-off ad in the newspaper had yielded 51 responses, of which 21 were duplicates from the petition.

Blue Handout From PSA

The Princeton Soccer Association turned the remarks made by Mike Ruddy at the previous meeting about the program and the traffic it generates into a closely-worded blue sheet, which was placed on every chair in the room. Mr. Ruddy used his time at the podium to refute the assertions made by Mr. Lowe on the availability of other fields in the area. Then he said to Committee, "In the final analysis, it all comes down to community values and vision: Do we exist and work together as a community?"

One of the more compelling speakers was Borough Councilman David Goldfarb, who said that it is unusual when a need in the community meets an opportunity, adding that many times when there are needs there are not opportunities.

"Here we have a willing seller," Mr. Goldfarb pointed out. "The state is willing to participate, and there is a willing donor."

Henry Arnold, a professional landscape architect and a Borough resident, described the property as well suited to the proposed use. After listing various positives associated with turning it into a park rather than developing it as houses, Mr. Arnold said, "This is a rare and wonderful opportunity for the community, and the people who would benefit the most are the people who live next to it."

Two neighbors whose properties abut the Weller tract spoke in favor of the park, Debbie Maps of 36 Herrontown Circle and Heidi Ratliff of Bertrand Drive. On the other hand, Dennis Lytle of Bertrand Drive said there were so many unaddressed questions and contradictions in assumptions that he didn't think Committee should be making a decision that night.

Peter Madison offered a list of restrictions to be placed on park use, ranging from the hours it would be open to prohibiting concerts, fireworks, loud music and rental or commercial use.

One of the last speakers was Walter Bliss, a Borough resident and father of four who said he was speaking on behalf of families with children and urging acquisition. "Don't lose this deal," Mr. Bliss warned Committee. "The ones down the road will be more expensive."

"Ask yourselves — In five years will I conclude that this is in the best interests of the Township, or will I decide that the fears and anxieties can't be addressed?"

After the meeting was adjourned, Mr. Frakt said he felt as if a great weight had been lifted off his shoulders.

Family Advice Column:
Coping with divorce

The Rev. Peter K. Stimpson

QUESTION: I'm lost in a divorce. My husband left me three months ago saying that I was boring and had held him back from career advancement. I'm 42 and overweight. I haven't worked in years and who'd want a middle-age woman with two kids?

Reeling under the unfair criticism flowing from your husband, you have fallen into the trap of putting all the blame for the divorce on yourself. You are torturing yourself with bargaining, probably claiming that if you had lost a few more pounds or attended a few more business parties, you could have saved your marriage.

The truth in divorce, however, is that just as it took two people to evolve a bond, it took two to gradually destroy it. Your husband, hoping to enlist allies in this war to prove his innocence, projects blame to you and relishes in the fact that you accept it.

So, stop blaming yourself, and instead start evaluating your half of what went wrong in the marriage. If you were overly dependent, take stock of your inner strengths. If you were shy and avoided social gatherings, force yourself to slowly widen your circle of friends and acquaintances. Look for a job and do not be discouraged if it takes time. When friendships form and compliments on job performance occur, your real, but hidden, self will finally come into focus. Then, if you choose, you will be ready to remarry, not feeling lucky to have quickly found anybody, but taking your time to find someone who will love you as much as you love them.

I was recently married to a woman with an eight-year-old boy who refuses to call me "Dad." I've been real nice to the kid. Why won't he respect me?

If your step-son refuses to call you "Dad," perhaps his intention is less to hurt you and more to remain loyal to his biological father. Realize that you have to begin at the beginning, getting to know your step-son gradually. Try to see that love is not a limited quantity to be jealously guarded, but a limitless quality to be generously bestowed, the relationship between children and their parents and step-parents being different, not competitive.

Peter Stimpson to answer a question of yours on family life, daily living or emotional health, you can write to him at: Trinity Counseling Service, 22 Stockton Street, Princeton, N.J. 08540. ### PHS Reception

The PTO of Princeton High School will hold a reception for parents, teachers and administration to "Welcome the New Faces at PHS" on Wednesday, September 11 at 6:30. People should gather on the front lawn of the high school. In case of rain, the reception will be held in the Davis Conference Room.

Musical entertainment will be provided by PHS students, and refreshments will be served.

New Jersey Mothers Against Drunk Driving (NJ MADD) has launched a statewide, month-long, petition drive to obtain 80,000 signatures in support of pending legislation in both the New Jersey State Senate and the New Jersey General Assembly to reduce the blood and breath alcohol concentration (BAC) at which a motorist is considered to be guilty of drunk driving from 0.10% to 0.08%.

The petition drive is in support of Assembly Bill No. 200, introduced by Assemblywoman Loretta Weinberg of Bergen County and Senate Bill No. 1411, introduced by Senator Louis Kosco, also of Bergen County. Both of these bills reduce the BAC to 0.08%.

According to NJ MADD volunteer Fran Reiss of MADD, Mercer County, the purpose of the petition drive "is to collect and present a minimum of 80,000 signatures from throughout the State to the members of both the Senate and Assembly Law and Public Safety Committees in September in support of both Assembly Bill, No. 200 and Senate Bill, No. 1411 when these committees reconvene to consider them."

Ms. Reiss stated that "the petition drive was being launched at the Bakers Basin Motor Vehicle Agency in Lawrenceville and at various other Division of Motor Vehicle Agencies throughout the State to highlight the relationship between drunk driving and motor vehicle accidents."

Ms. Reiss indicated that "research shows that by the time a level of 0.08% is reached, even experienced drivers show driving skill impairment. Lowering the BAC to 0.08% will reduce crash problems and their resulting deaths and injuries, number and severity, and property damage occurring as a result of the alcohol impaired driver."

For more information call Fran Reiss at 443-5311.

John J. Farmer, national correspondent of The Star-Ledger, will give members of 55 Plus a look behind the scenes of the election campaigns at 10 a.m. on Thursday morning, September 26.

He has followed the current presidential contest from the end of the 1992 election. The meeting will take place at the Princeton Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street.

55 Plus was organized in 1986 as a non-sectarian group to promote social contacts and friendships among men who are either retired or who have flexible working hours. It meets at 10 a.m. on the first and third Thursday morning of each month, except July and August, to listen to and discuss a wide range of topics with prominent speakers. In addition to its meetings, it is engaged in a number of service projects including assisting at Red Cross blood drives and on-air fund raising for New Jersey Public Television. It is open to all men of the community.

George Gallup will be the guest speaker at the first fall meeting of The Friday Club of Princeton on October 4 at noon. He will discuss the upcoming elections.

The meeting will be held at the Suzanne Patterson Center (behind Borough Hall.) The club previously met at the YWCA, but will have all future meetings at the center.

Snob Appeal Makes Township Residents Irrationally Wish to Merge with Borough

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a consistent opponent of consolidation since it was first proposed circa 1953, I know how unlikely it is for partisans on either side to change their minds. However, I would like the Township majority who favor consolidation to consider the following questions:

Why, when even its proponents on the Commission admit that immediate and future financial savings will be insignificant or nonexistent, are you anxious to accept the additional tax burden that Commission acknowledges will obtain for Township taxpayers from the outset?

Why do you accept the peculiar assertion that one municipality will have a stronger hand in dealings with the state and the University than two independent entities now have? The state and the University would be delighted to deal with one overweight beagle rather than two fox terriers, but how is it to our advantage to remove obstacles from their imperial paths?

Doesn't it defy common sense to expect two large entities to combine into a larger whole and end up less top-heavy, more responsive, and more efficient? Doesn't experience repeatedly confirm that empire building and never-ending turf wars are predominant features of such situations?

Does any of you who has dealt with Township government expect it will be more satisfactory to deal with a government that is roughly twice as big and has at least twice as many intrinsic responsibilities?

Are any of us going to enjoy the experience of watching for several years as our two bureaucracies haggle over who gets fired and who gets the corner offices in the new building, while the services and ordinances now in place are re-engineered by paid consultants?

Do you actually want to make the Township's remaining vacant land accessible to the urbanizing whims of the successors to the development-oriented Borough leadership?

Do you really want University undergraduates to have the swing vote in elections affecting the entire community?

In spite of questions like these, a majority in the Township routinely vote for consolidation. This has puzzled me since 1953. But a Township friend — himself a consolidation enthusiast — recently gave me his answer. "It's the S-word," he said. "Snobbery. The Borough has cachet, the Township doesn't."

He could be right. It hardly seems like an adult criterion, but if Township citizens feel they are second-class Princetonians, and their Borough friends smugly tell them, "Yes, you are," consolidation is a sure way to get even. If this feeling is as strong and widespread as my friend believes, consolidation could be approved in the Township without regard to whether it's a good idea per se.

How unfortunate that such a perception ever took hold. If all of us who settled in the Township had started out with the mindset of being adjacent to Princeton, rather than in it, perhaps consolidation would not be an issue, just as it is not for the three townships that share boundaries and neighborhoods with Trenton, whose residents accept the fact that they are transitional communities who share interests and problems with Trenton but who have no reason or desire to combine with it officially.

To those who argue that we all identify ourselves as being from "Princeton" and therefore we must combine municipalities, most residents of Hamilton, Lawrence, and Ewing used to identify themselves as being from Trenton, and indeed had Trenton mailing addresses. Now that Trenton has lost its cachet, there is less enthusiasm for identifying with it voluntarily. If Township residents could accept the parallel, perhaps they would be more anxious to change the name of the town to Witherspoon or Tusculum Township than they now are to see it combined with the core city.

Lee's Castle II Shows a True Concern For Often Neglected Dining Patrons

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This is a short letter to publicly thank Lee's Castle II in the Princeton Shopping Center for not only their constant excellence in food and service, but, more importantly, their caring and conscientious attitude toward their customers.

My wife and I are vegans and we find our menu options in most restaurants are, at best, slight. If any vegetarian items are offered at all, they usually contain cheese or some other product that restaurateurs don't seem to realize comes from an animal. Lee's Castle II has been a safe haven for us for two years now, ever since they introduced their vegetarian menu.

We enjoy this menu and patronize this restaurant more than once a week, not only because of the quality of the food, but because, in the very creation of this menu, they have shown a true concern for a too often overlooked (and a very large) part of their dining patrons.

We thank them for the good food and kindness and we heartily encourage more restaurants to do the same. It is not only the right thing to do, but a simple way to increase business.

Princeton Coalition for Senior Housing Does Not Call For Public Funding

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Princeton Coalition for Senior Housing wants to correct a widespread misconception: that the Coalition expects, or has ever called for public funding for senior housing.

When residents talk of Borough and Township projects which will need public funding, many include the library, municipal building(s), road repair, AND senior housing. Some citizens believe we are only working for senior housing for the wealthy, while others think we are concerned only about low-income senior housing.

Princeton needs, and the Coalition advocates, all kinds of senior housing, from market rate to low income, independent and assisted living, nursing homes and life care communities.

Once the Township's senior housing ordinances are in place, it will be up to builders and developers to come forward with proposals for specific projects. Our governing bodies must be receptive and cooperative in order to insure that our seniors' housing needs are met.

Privately built senior housing will add ratables to the tax rolls and will help keep hundreds of active participants and volunteers in community activities right here in Princeton. We ask little in return, just the ability to stay here.

ELEANOR W. ANGOFF

Co-ordinator, Coalition for Senior Housing

Not in the Spirit of Democracy to Keep Consolidation Off Ballot on Technicality

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It is with great dismay that I read that there is an attempt by opponents of consolidation to keep the question off of the ballot this November by taking advantage of technical questions regarding proper submission of the question to the County Board of Elections. Despite any protestations to the contrary, this is a cynical attempt to remove the question from a presidential election year and delay it until an off year election when many fewer legally registered voters, especially including university students, are likely to go to the polls.

I find it particularly appalling that the attorney representing the supporters of this effort is Alan Karcher, who is also the Chairman of The Democratic County Committee. The party has a tradition of espousing inclusiveness in elections, not the reverse, and it is distressing to see one of its leaders supporting such activity.

I was one of the two dissenters on the Consolidation Commission. I am not convinced that consolidation offers significant advantages to the two municipalities. However, I am convinced that our (small d) democratic system of government is the finest system yet devised, and that manipulations to exclude legally entitled voters from elections are without exception reprehensible. I hope that this effort to do so fails.

I would far rather see my position on any public issue fail than to see it succeed by such unworthy means.

DAVID W. BLAIR
Kingston Road

Both Princetons Share Similar Long-Term and Short-Term Goals

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The issues of consolidation of Princeton Borough and Township have been carefully presented in the final report of the Consolidation Study Commission. Throughout this Fall these issues will be thoroughly discussed in the newspapers, in public meetings, and by small groups of interested citizens. I feel that the Commission has done a very good job in presenting the points to support its recommendation in favor of consolidation and in discussing the pros and cons in many different areas of community activity and interest.

However, there is one more element of our community that I believe should receive more attention — the People!

Consolidation of the Borough and Township is a major step in the right direction because the citizens of both have very similar long-term and short-term goals. The major goals include:

- Desire for responsive, fair and efficient government.
- Pride in our community for its world-renowned university and the cultural opportunities it offers
- Pride in the way our town looks — the thriving central business district, the public areas, and the "green" open spaces which are used by our citizens of all ages.
- Willingness to discuss new ideas freely and openly, and to incorporate those plans that seem to offer the most promise for improvements in our lives and in our community.
- Freedom to participate in planning and related subsequent discussions with our governing body and the opportunity to be able to support the implementation of those plans. With a united Princeton in our future, we would still have a small, active, and manageable community.
- Continuing to say, as we do now, "We live in Princeton."

The best way for all our citizens to work together for our total community is through consolidation. We should combine our efforts to achieve our joint and individual desires. I urge you to vote for one Princeton on November 5.

Candidate for Civil Rights Director Says Litigation Not a Good Tactic

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was pleased to learn of the appointment of the Rev. Michael Nabors as the temporary director of the Civil Rights Commission. I was worried that Princeton might choose to abolish the position. For while I was alarmed by the apparent conflict of interest of Ovie Lattimore's lawsuit against the school board, I was not surprised by his dismissal. The merits of the case aside, as a homeowner in Princeton, I do not wish to fund a position which might file lawsuits against the school board, city or other municipal entity which would lead to higher taxes and inflame passions and foment divisiveness (as the adversarial system must). Litigation is slow, wasteful and no guarantee of a fair resolution.

From personal experience, I believe that there are many intervening steps to be taken before one resorts to filing suit. As an African-American who moved here in 1978, after graduating from law school, I immediately learned about discrimination in Princeton. First, I had difficulty purchasing a home because of a covenant in the seller's deed agreeing to sell to whites only. Despite the covenant being unenforceable de jure, there was, de facto, an attempt to hold the seller to the exclusionary clause.

And only several months after moving here, I was arrested while jogging for no reason, despite offering to furnish identification at my home a half a block away. The next day, the Chief of Police apologized, saying that the officer did not believe that any blacks lived in the neighborhood.

I was quite fortunate to have the education, sophistication and connections needed to successfully handle both of these matters on my own, without ever needing to resort to even the threat of litigation. I fear that most who encounter civil rights problems here are ill-equipped to deal with them effectively.

To this end, I have submitted my resumé to Thomas Shannon, Borough Administrator, in application for the director position. In addition to my law degree, I have degrees from three different Ivy League schools. And I have experience in the field of Civil Rights, having written a series on the desegregation of public high schools for WTTW (PBS in Chicago). I hope that Princeton will give me an opportunity as civil rights director.

Remember, It's In our Best Interest To Promote, Not Discourage, Voting

To the Editor of Town Topics:

What joy to meet in the Princeton political arena such an esteemed politician as the former Speaker of the New Jersey General Assembly and present Mercer County Democratic County Committee Chairman, Alan Karcher!

But can it be true, Alan? Do recent press accounts accurately identify you as champion of those who have filed suit on technical legal grounds to block the printing of the consolidation question on this November's ballot? Say it isn't so!

We Democrats and Princetonians of all stripes have traditionally subscribed to the view that it is in our best interest and that of all voters to promote, not discourage, voting.

We Democrats in particular are proud that it was one of our own — Princeton's Woodrow Wilson — who led the nation when the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution was adopted, granting women the right to vote 76 years ago. We are proud that it was another Democratic President who pushed to secure voting rights for African-Americans 30 years ago.

We are proud that enactment of state "motor-voter laws" nationwide was a Democratic initiative of President Clinton two years ago.

We are proud that every year under your able leadership we seek high voter turn-out in such important precincts as the City of Trenton so that we may elect Democrats to State and County offices and, as a result, a Princeton favorite son recently won a seat in the State Assembly.

And we are proud that in Princeton Borough and Township we Democrats have traditionally mounted an aggressive local voter registration effort. Presently, the two Princetonians are the only two municipalities in the County with clear Democratic majorities.

So, as Democrats — indeed, as Princetonians affiliated with any party or no party — we have no stake in depriving our well-educated and politically active electorate of the opportunity to consider in the privacy of the voting booth such an important question to their future of our community as consolidation — no matter what their individual opinions!

Your legal action to prevent Princetonians from casting their ballots on the consolidation question this Election Day hurts every voter, of every party and of every viewpoint, because that effort denies us all the benefit of hearing each others' voices in determining the future of our community.

Alan, we know you to be a man of generous character, fine political instincts, and usually liberal leanings when it comes to supporting the right to vote. Don't let those who traditionally try to suppress the vote in Princeton succeed this year! You're no Ed Rollins. You're a Democrat among democrats. Stand up for our right to vote!

MUSIC & THEATRE

Theatre Intime Mysteries Auditions Scheduled

Theatre Intime and Mystery Associates will hold auditions for their production of Mystery, Murder, and Mayhem, two new one-act plays by Marvin Harold Cheiten, directed by Dan Berkowitz. Auditions will be held on Saturday and Sunday, September 21 and 22, from noon to 4 each day, at Theatre Intime on the Princeton University campus. The plays are scheduled to open October 24 at Theatre Intime for a two-weekend run.

The Golden Spy is a thriller featuring detective

Sherlock Holmes. Abetted by his trusted colleague Dr. Watson, Holmes comes to the aid of the beautiful English-born Countess von Furstenberg as she battles International Intrigue on the eve of World War I.

Chowder, She Wrote, is a farce set in the Maine home of famed mystery novelist Jennifer Filcher. Tramping through this quaint seaside house are Jennifer's doctor beau, the always-hungry local sheriff, a gaggle of spies, and at least two dead bodies — all in search of the perfect bowl of chowder.

Each play has a cast of seven — two women, five men — in a wide age range. Auditioners should come with a prepared monologue no more than two minutes long; they will also be asked to read from the plays. Actors may be cast in both plays.

Guitarist Stanley Jordan Opens Jazz Series

Guitarist Stanley Jordan will be the first artist in Princeton University Concerts new jazz series when he performs Friday evening, September 20, at 8 in Richardson Auditorium. The Spirit of Life Ensemble will open for Mr. Jordan.

More than three years in the planning stages, University Concerts Jazz is intended to broaden the diversity of musical offerings sponsored by the Princeton University Concert Committee. The inaugural jazz concert also serves to celebrate Princeton's 250th anniversary.

A native of Palo Alto, Calif., Mr. Jordan attended

SOPHISTICATION: Princeton Repertory Company's Kate Siegrist as Merchant II in "The Comedy of Errors," which will be presented at the Triangle Broadmead Theatre Friday and Saturday, September 13 and 14, at 8; Sunday, September 15, at 3; and Friday through Sunday, September 20 to 22, at 8.

Princeton University, graduating in 1981. Performing on the streets of New York City, he dazzled passers-by with a unique two-hand touch and tapping technique. No one had ever before heard a guitarist with the ability to execute a walking bass line, a rhythmic accompaniment and a lead line all at the same time.

Before long Mr. Jordan was opening for Wynton Marsalis at Avery Fisher Hall, then appearing at the Montreux Jazz Festival, and finally headlining for a week at the Village Vanguard. By the time his major label debut album, Magic Touch, was released in 1985, Stanley Jordan had been recognized as one of the greatest guitarists of his generation.

Today his performances are regarded as more than dazzling technical mastery. His subsequent albums have ranged from the exploration of traditional jazz forms to experimental reworkings of contemporary pop songs, from stripped-down solo and trio recordings to elaborate layerings of electronic sound. He has steadfastly refused to be categorized, and his open-mindedness toward many diverse schools of music has constantly led him to broaden his stylistic range.

The Spirit of Life Ensemble combines the rhythms of Africa, Latin America, and the United States to form what it calls "a solid foundation of soulful interplay, both expansive and innovative." Formed in 1975 in Jersey City from a group of eight musicians, the Ensemble today includes 30 performers who provide diversity within a unified musical approach.

Tickets are priced at $26, $23, $17; students, $19, $16, $10, and are available at the Richardson Auditorium box office, which is open noon to 6 weekdays. Reservations may be made by calling 258-5000.

Princeton Ballet School Has Some Openings
Princeton Ballet School, the official school of American Repertory Ballet, is accepting enrollment for the 1996-97 school year.
PBS currently enrolls more than 1200 students annually, from age four through adult. Free placement classes are given for the previously trained student entering PBS for the first time.
Enrollment for all three PBS locations — New Brunswick, Cranbury and Princeton — is the strongest ever, generated, in part, by excitement over the new studios in the Princeton Shopping Center. PBS offers classes in ballet, jazz, modern dance and Spanish dance. The New Brunswick and Cranbury facilities offer the same opportunities.
In addition, Princeton Ballet School offers the PLUS program for an increased level of study by intermediate students; the junior pre-professional company known as Princeton Ballet II; and a choice of summer programs. The Career Track program is available for students age 13 or over who are preparing for a professional career in dance. American Repertory Ballet Artistic Director Septime Webre oversees this program of advanced training.
All ballet and modern classes have live piano accompaniment. Although enrollment is very strong, openings are still available in many classes. For information call 921-7758.

They strut their stuff to a tango, waltz, swing, rock and Motown while teaching youngsters about baby dinosaurs and family behavior.
Tickets are $7. To order tickets call 584-9444.

Deadline Nears For Subscriptions To PU Concerts

The 1996-97 Princeton University Concerts Season begins Thursday evening, September 26, with an appearance by The Angeles String Quartet at Richardson Auditorium in Alexander Hall. The program inaugurates the 103rd season of one of the oldest continuous series of eminent musical events in the United States, founded in 1894 by Philena Fobes Fine.

Nine concerts will be presented in two series: the three-concert Richardson Recitals and the six-concert Chamber Masterworks Series. Subscriptions are priced between $50 and $209, and are available until Thursday, September 26, by calling 258-2800 between 10 and 4 weekdays.

The Angeles String Quartet was organized eight years ago by four of the finest string players in Los Angeles. The Quartet made its Princeton debut at the 1995 Summer Chamber Concerts and will return to Richardson with a program including works of Haydn, Schubert, and Beethoven's String Quartet in Minor, Opus 132.

The Mexican string quartet Cuarteto Latinoamericano will make its University Concerts debut on November 7. Founded in 1981 and specializing in the rarely heard repertoire of Latin America, the Cuarteto is currently in residence at Carnegie Mellon University. The ensemble will bring to Princeton a program including works of José Evangelista, Anton Bruckner, Reza Vali, Heitor Villa-Lobos, and Astor Piazzola.

On November 21 the Sine Nomine String Quartet of Lausanne, Switzerland, will appear with pianist Philippe Bianconi, winner of the Silver Medal in the Seventh Van Cliburn Competition. Founded in 1975, the Quartet won First Prize at the Avian International Quartet Competition in 1985. Mr. Bianconi will join the Sine Nomine in a performance of the Brahms Piano Quintet.

Widely known for its performances of works of the Second Viennese School, the Schoenberg Quartet of The Netherlands will appear on February 13. The Quartet will be joined by soprano Susan Narucki in a program including works of Hindemith and the Second String Quartet of Arnold Schoenberg. Ms. Narucki is highly respected for his performances of 20th century repertoire, and has appeared with The Composers' Ensemble at Princeton.

The Nash Ensemble of London, England's foremost chamber music ensemble, returns to Princeton April 3 for its only North American engagement this season. An appearance by the Golub-Kaplan-Carr Trio will bring the Chamber Masterworks Series to a close May 8.

Recital Series

The Richardson Recital Series begins January 16 with violinist Susanne Stanzeleit and pianist Gustav Fenyö, two of Great Britain's leading musicians. Their program will include works of Delius, Bartók, and Ludwig van Beethoven.

Pianist Ivan Moravec returns to Princeton on February 27 to perform works of Brahms, Schubert, Beethoven, Debussy, and Chopin. Vladimir Ashkenazy brings the Richardson Recital Series to a conclusion on March 6. The Russian pianist returns nearly 30 years after his last performance here in April, 1967. He will play sonatas of Beethoven and Prokofiev.

All events take place on Thursday evenings at 8 in Richardson Auditorium. Individual tickets for each concert are priced at $29, $24, $19; students, $2 and are available at the box office, open Monday through Friday, noon to 6. Call 258-5000 for reservations.

Organ Concerts Return To University Chapel

The fifth season for the Princeton University Chapel After Noon Organ Concerts series begins on Wednesday, September 18 and runs weekly through December 11 (excluding November 27). Each Wednesday afternoon, beginning at 12:30 p.m., audiences will have the opportunity to hear some of the country's finest organists play a half hour recital on the E.M. Skinner/N.P. Mander organ in the Princeton Chapel.

The season opens with Joan Lippincott, Princeton University organist and professor of organ at Westminster Choir College of Rider University. Ms. Lippincott is well-known to Princeton audiences for her work at the Choir College over the last 35 years and for the numerous organ recitals she has played in the area. In addition, she has performed throughout the United States and Europe, winning critical acclaim for her mastery of both classic and contemporary repertoire.

609-924-0919Retooling Defense Will Be Key to Tigers' Efforts
To Contend for Another Ivy Football Championship

Defense Wins Championships, football coaches like to say, and as far as Princeton is concerned this aphorism is backed by plenty of supporting evidence over the last three decades. Coach Steve Tosches is a firm believer, and the statistics bear him out.

When Tosches took over the head coaching job in 1987, his first two teams, led by the Garrett brothers, had plenty of offense. The 1988 edition averaged four touchdowns a game, but neither could do better than a 6-4 mark and 4-3 in the league.

Seven years later, his 1995 Tigers averaged close to that (24 ppg), but the defense was even better. It gave up just 124 points in 10 games, allowing opponents an average of fewer than two touchdowns a contest, and Old Nassau finally captured an outright Ivy title for the first time in 31 years. The last time the Orange and Black had a defensive unit that stingy was in the mid-60's under coach Dick Coleman.

The 1964 team, captained by Cosmo Iacavazzi, gave up less than one touchdown per game (5.9 points), shutting out four opponents on the way to a 9-0 mark. The 1965 team wasn't bad either, giving up 11 points per game, and finished 8-1. Unfortunately, the Dartmouth team that beat Princeton for the league crown that fall allowed just 71 total points.

STRONGMAN AT SAFETY: Co-captain Jimmy Archie, the strong safety, is one of the reasons opponents will look to run rather than pass against Princeton this fall.

All this tells you that the key to continued success for the team that has lost fewer games (10) the last five years than any other in Division I-AA hinges on rebuilding a defensive unit that lost six starters. The word rebuilding isn't part of Tosches' vocabulary, but whatever you want to call it, some retooling is necessary.

Steve DeGregorio: Mr. Fixit

The chief mechanic will be assistant coach Steve DiGregorio who has switched from coaching running backs to working with defensive linemen. That should suit DiGregorio, who has been here almost as long (nine years) as Tosches. He was a four-year letterwinner as a defensive lineman for Muhlenberg College.

His task is a daunting one: replace three starters, including two-time first team all-Ivy selection Darrell Oliveira and two-year starter and second team all-Ivy pick Brian Groody. Sam Young, who started at tackle last year, has also graduated.

DiGregorio appears to have no problems at either end spot. At one he welcomes back third-year starter Dale Bartley, 6'6", 235-pounds, who had 42 tackles and four sacks. At the other, junior Griff King, 6'7", 250-pounds, should move from back-up role to a starting position.

The big question is in the middle, where seven players will compete for two spots. Mark Whaling would seem to have the inside

Tigers Score Six Times Against FDU-Madison

Saturday's scrimmage against FDU-Madison produced more big plays than Princeton may have all season. Last year they had one touchdown of better than 50 yards, Saturday they had three.

The Tigers outscored the visitors, six touchdowns to one in slightly more than three quarters of play. Quarterback Jackie Dempsey got things rolling with a 25-yard run. The second touchdown was scored by sophomore running back Derek Thelsen.

Sophomore quarterback John Burnham, who missed all of 1995 with a broken collarbone, threw a 68-yard touchdown pass to Danny Brian on his first pass of the day. He scored again from 10 yards out on a perfectly executed naked bootleg.

Brian, a freshman from Escondido, Calif., scored again on a 58-yard run on a double reverse. Another freshman, Gerald Giurato, added a 57-yard run for another score. Defensively, Tom Ludwig and Joe Juliana had interceptions for the Orange and Black; FDU's lone TD came on a 61-yard pass play.

Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis® relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis® is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work.

A football coach once designed a play that was unstoppable — until it was outlawed ... Marshall University coach Boyd Chambers had 2 pass receivers go into the end zone for a pass ... Then, one of the receivers got on the shoulders of the other ... The quarterback threw a high pass — which was impossible to defend against ... The receiver on top of his teammate's shoulders caught the ball for a touchdown ... The TD was allowed because there was no rule against it then, but now there is.

needs. They may need a $500,000 Term Life Policy, while you may need a $500,000 Ordinary Life Policy.

Can you name the only major team sport in America that's not in the Olympics ... That one sport is football.

One of the legendary college football teams of all time was Colgate University in 1932 because they went undefeated, untied and unscored on that season — but then, expecting a bowl bid, they didn't get one, so they became famous in football history for being unbeaten, untied, unscored on and UN-INVITED!

track for one tackle spot. If that name rings a bell, it may be because Whaling was a stand-out midfielder on Princeton's NCAA champion lacrosse team. He played both linebacker and defensive tackle last fall.

Behind Whaling the competition is wide open, and Juniors Chris Brown, Jeff Jacobs, sophomores Dan Swingos, Jeff Brennan and Matt Shields, and senior Boh DeBolt will try to win DeGregorio's heart between now and opening day, September 21.

Retrofitting the Linebackers

The linebacking corps was also hard hit by graduation as well — two of its three members last year accounted for one-quarter of all the tackles made by the team in 1995. Ivy Player of the year Dave Patterson alone made 129 of those stops, one off his school record of 130 set a year earlier.

In terms of recognition, Ryan Moore played in Patterson's shadow the last two years, but on the field he was almost as visible to opposing runners. He was second on the team in tackles each of the last two years.

Tim Greene, who started at the other outside linebacker spot as a sophomore, and was third in tackles, is the lone holdover. After that the experience drops off dramatically. Jamie Toddings saw some action as a sophomore, as did Jim Salters and Jeff Miller, who played behind Patterson. Of course, playing behind Patterson was like playing behind Lou Gehrig.

If Princeton has any success stopping the run in the early games, the defense should come together quickly. The secondary is loaded with holdover talent. Too bad these guys weren't around when Dartmouth's Jay Fiedler was chewing up the Tiger secondary a few years ago.

"It's a strength, no doubt," Tosches says. "We're as talented as we've ever been back there."

Mr. Everything

Returning for his junior year at one of the cornerback positions is Damani Leech, who impressed just about everybody in the country as a sophomore. His post-season honors included first-team all-Ivy, first team all-ECAC and third-team all-America. His eight interceptions last season were the second highest in school history, behind Superman Dean Cain, who had 12 in 1987.

AND FOR AN ENCORE? Damani Leech had a superlative sophomore season at cornerback. Will he be able to build on that success as a junior?

Another junior, Tom Ludwig, had a memorable freshman year with seven interceptions, but a better all-around year in '95 as a sophomore, when he was fourth on the team in tackles. He'll hold down the free safety spot.

Jimmy Archie gives the team its third rock-solid starter. The senior strong safety elected a co-captain for this year may be better than the other two. He had 61 tackles and four interceptions, and was named a second team all-Ivy.

Someone will need to step in at cornerback to replace Rich Hill, and that might be the highly touted sophomore Royce Reed, a super athlete with speed to burn. He may be switched from wide receiver. Other candidates are veterans Nick Avallone and Bret Marshall.

For the first time in years, Princeton enters the season with an established set of kickers, all of whom won the position as freshmen. Placekicker Alex Sierk had a huge freshman year, connecting on 27 of 29 extra points and five of 10 field goals. Ben Mulinix is the kickoff specialist and Matt Evans, who averaged 34.2 yards last fall, will return as punter.

All Things Are Relative In Assessing Hun Tennis

Anyone who reads the sports pages understands coach-speak, and can translate it into the plain English that it might not be politic for coaches to use themselves. For instance, to the average reader it's pretty clear that a coach who says, "I expect them to play us tough — we're not taking anything for granted," when talking about an upcoming game really means "We're good and they stink. You do the math."

As with any language, though, coach-speak has its divergent dialects. In most areas, a high school coach who says "This is going to be a rebuilding year," really means, "If I could go on sabbatical and avoid this season, I'd do it in a minute. We're going to be awful."

At the Hun School, however, at least on the tennis courts, it translates roughly to "We may have a hard time winning the County Tournament this season."

Entering her tenth season as head coach, Joan Nuse said last week that she expected 1996 to be a rebuilding year for the Raiders, who lost four varsity players to graduation last season.

"I don't know if we'll be as good as we were last year," she said. "But we'll be competitive with teams in the area."

Nuse has a number of players with varsity experience returning, including the two players at the top of Hun's singles ladder. Senior Jenn Russo is the team captain, and will start the season in the first singles position.

Sophomore Laura Maisel made a strong start as a third singles player last season, winning the County third singles title as an unseeded entry in the tournament. She will move up to second singles this year.

Also returning from last season are Jennie Breo and Meghan Merritt, both juniors with varsity experience. Breo will play at third singles and Merritt will probably take a doubles slot. Some freshmen, who, Nuse says, "look pretty good," might also get a chance to help the team out this season.

Last year the Raiders were 8-4, having had six matches cancelled on account of rain. They won the Mercer County Tournament and the Prep "B" State Title.

This season, they will see some tough competition early. West Windsor-Plainsboro, probably the best public school team in the County this year, is Hun's first opponent. The match is scheduled for Wednesday at 4 p.m.

After that, the Raiders will get a full week off, as their next contest, a home match against East Brunswick, is set for September 19.

Hun Girls Soccer Coach Expects Success in 1996

There may be a question mark in the goalkeeper's position, but there is an exclamation point on the front line, and coaches Dave and Julie Davis of the Hun School girls' soccer team are counting on offense to be their team's strong suit this year.

"We're going to put a good team on the field this year," says Dave Davis. "Our depth is going to have to come along — we've got some young kids who need work, but we're going to put a lot of shots on goal."

The front line will combine the experience of proven goal scorer Joanne Deni and the promise of freshman Tessa Montijo. Deni, one of the three co-captains, is one of the best athletes in the County, and will be a nightmare to both prep and public school defenders alike.

Montijo, says Davis "has really impressed us." If she can contribute some scoring as well, the Hun offense should have no troubles.

The midfield is still a little bit open, says Davis. "We're probably going to be platooning a few girls, sending them in two at a time, because the talent level is pretty even."

Two definite starters are Kathy Geiger, a sophomore who started as a freshman, and Kim Dale, a senior who transferred from Ewing last year.

Among those who will see playing time are juniors Kerl Marino, Tammy Scheer, and Janet Carter, and freshman Lauren Kwiatkowski.

"We're going to be strong in the backfield," Davis predicts.

Hun's other two captains will both be supporting the defense. Senior Cathy Arland will play sweeper, and fellow captain Margeaux Bendotti will play fullback. Joining them in an experienced backfield are stopper Sara Moss, a senior transfer, and fullback Michelle Lisclandrello, a junior.

"We have a lot of question marks in goal," says Davis. "We don't have anyone who has really played there before, but we're working with some of the younger players."

The coach says that he is hoping that the strong defense will be able to take some of the pressure off an inexperienced keeper.

Hun begins its season Friday at 3:30, with a home contest against Lawrence. On Tuesday, they visit PDS for a 3:45 start.

Soccer Captain: Hun senior Rich Volz will lead a Hun soccer team comprised of returning talent and promising young players.

Hun Soccer Collects Self in Wake of Graduation

"Every year," says Hun soccer coach Rob Myslik, "the challenge is to take the returning guys and turn them into a more mature and responsible group. In a way, that's the fun of high school soccer."

Myslik's Raiders were hurt by graduation. Gone is four-year leading scorer Walker Wright, who joined the Princeton University squad. Also gone is Dave Wiskowski, the team's best defender, and Josh Viel, a dependable post-grad.

"It looks okay, though," says Myslik, confident that he still has the personnel to field a successful team.

Captain of the 1996 squad is Rich Volz, a senior who usually plays on the right side of the defense. In goal is Topher Lawton, a sophomore who made a fine showing as a freshman, and has, according to Myslik, worked at improving his game over the summer.

Steve Brosnan, a senior who really came along in the middle of last year, will play up front. He may be joined by sophomore Russell Jaffe, of Montgomery.

The team looks very strong in the midfield. Sophomore Ken Arena will start there. "He's one of our best players," says the coach, "and he has improved since last year as much as anyone. I'm hoping he will be a leader this year."

Jermaine Jackson, a sophomore who started last year, will likely play outside midfield, and may be joined by Sean Murphy. Brant Dean, a senior who began starting games at the end of last season, may also find a slot in the middle, but could also play defense.

According to Myslik, there are four prominent newcomers on the team. The above-mentioned Jaffe is one, and the others are post-graduates Ryan Beshany and Dave Christlansen, both inter-

BALANCED CAPTAINS: The captains of the Hun soccer team will lead at both ends of the field. Senior Joanne Deni, left, will look to score goals up front, while defenders Margeaux Bendotti, center, and Cathy Arland, right, will protect the Raider goal. All three captains are seniors.

HOCKEY HEADS: Captains of the Hun field hockey team, Amy Nissim, left, and Meris Burton will lead the Raider defense this season. Nissim, the sweeper, and Burton, the goalie, will try to lead the team to success under first-year coach Hope Garbutt.

changeable at defense and midfield, and freshman Charlie Hayes.
Hayes, says Myslik, is a team favorite. He is only five feet tall and weighs about 80 pounds, but has so far played well enough to earn a spot on the varsity and some potential playing time at midfield.
Hun Field Hockey Trains For '96 With New Coach
"From what I've heard, we lost a lot of talent, but I think these girls will do well," says Hope Garbutt, first year coach of the Hun School field hockey team.

"We have six or seven seniors and a lot of depth — about 40 girls came out for the team. Being new, it's hard to tell, but I think these girls look strong."
Garbutt, a native of Pottstown, Pa., is a recent graduate of Temple University, where she played lacrosse for the Owls. She inherits a pair of experienced captains who can help her organize a team with plenty of talent left over from last year's Prep "B" semi-finalist squad.

Hun's captains are both defensive players. Talented sweeper Amy Nissim, a senior, and outstanding goal-keeper Meris Burton, a junior, are the team leaders.
"Amy and Meris work very well together, and show a lot of leadership," says Garbutt. "They are great captains and excellent players."
Sophomore Lindsay McQuade will probably join the two captains as a back. Another defensive candidate is junior Erica Rosenthal, described by Garbutt as "a very strong defender, with good field sense."

In the midfield, Garbutt expects a freshman, Jamie Bills, to play a leading role. Bills' sister Leah graduated last year as one of the Raiders' top players.
"[Jamie] will probably play midfield, but could play anywhere," says the coach, "wherever the ball is, she's on top of it."
Junior Lauren Kell will also be a midfielder. "I think she is going to be a key player this year," says Garbutt.

Hun boasts a lot of talent on the line. On the wing, Garbutt likes senior Laura Ashton. "She saw playing time last year. She is very aggressive, plays her position well, and is very fast."
On the other side is junior Kim Bullock. "She's very quick, and probably the most intense player I have. She's very aggressive, but needs to develop her skills."

Sophomore Marcy Long, who did a lot of scoring for the Raiders in 1995, will be back with even more confidence. "She's very good, with great skills," says the coach. "She has a good sense of the field. We're looking to her to score a lot of goals for us."
Also up on the line for Hun will be senior Casey Bell and freshman Whitney Hosea.
Hun's season is set to begin at 3:45 on Tuesday, at PDS.

Hun Football Talented But Faces Lack of Speed

The outlook for the Hun School football team is rarely bad. Normally with the Raiders, it is a question of how good they will be rather than will they be any good at all.

This season should be no exception. Long-time coach Bill Long says, "We have decent talent, but we don't have great speed. We're going to be tested this year."

The Raiders were 8-1 last year, earning a share of the state title. Highlights of the season were wins over state powers like Lawrenceville and Blair Academy. The Raiders may have a hard time duplicating that record, but should have no problem turning in a winning season.

Long has been happy with the early-season practices. "This is a nice group of kids," he says. "They are meshing well."

Hun will be co-captained by 6'2, 250-pound senior Matt Ventresca, who plays on the offensive and defensive lines (at guard and end, respectively). Joining Ventresca on the offensive line will be players such as Ryan Simone (6'0, 215) at guard, Winslow Lewis (6'0, 230) at center, post-grad Tu Webster (6'3, 315) at tackle, and Brian Zoffinger (6'1, 235) at a position yet to be determined. Billy King (5'11, 170), a starter at defensive end last season, will also see playing time.

If it sounds as though the Raiders are just a tad bigger than they were last year, it's because they are. Long's linemen gave away as much as 70 pounds last season, facing squads like Lawrenceville and Hackley. This time around, things will be a bit more even.

Inside linebackers will include the team's other co-

SHOULDER TO SHOULDER: Mark Barbin, left, and Matt Ventresca will captain the Hun football team this season. The Raiders are enjoying more size than they have in years past, but may be paying the price in a lack of speed.

captain Mark Barbin (6'0, 180) and Morgan Battle (6'3, 210) from last year's squad, with the addition of Chad Gagnon (6'0, 205), a Naval Academy-bound PG from Maine. On the outside, Simone may see some playing time, and will certainly be joined by Trevor Tierney (5'11, 175).

In the defensive backfield, the Raiders look big and strong, and not very fast, which could be a real problem. Candidates include Max Wright and Arthur Gross, both of whom go 6'0, 190, and Matt Zisler, who is 6'0, 200.

Different Offense

Post-grad quarterback Jamie Scholz, of Piscataway, will lead the Hun offense in what Long describes as "a more traditional attack." The 6'1, 185-pound left-hander has a good arm and can run, says Long.

Without sparkplug running back Jordan Younger and pile-driver fullback Bart Orr, who graduated last year, Hun will probably be moving to a more straight-ahead game. Barbin, Wright and Tierney will all see time at halfback, Zisler will get some carries from the backfield, and Gagnon will hold down the full-back slot.

Downfield, Hun fans can expect to see Scholz throwing to Gross, Wright, and Battle, among others.

Hun opens on September 21, playing Bok High School of Philadelphia at home at 1 p.m. Bok won its city division last season, and Long expects them to be extremely good.

Hun will come off the Bok game to face Lawrenceville and Hackley in consecutive weeks — a tough early schedule by any measure.

YMCA Pre Season Clinic For Competitive Swimmers

Competitive swimmers will have the opportunity to prepare for trials through the Princeton Family YMCA pre-season stroke and turn clinic. The clinic will be held Monday, September 16, through Friday, October 11, at the YM-YWCA pool on Paul Robeson Place.

Children ages 6 to 12 will swim Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from 6:45 to 8 p.m. Those ages 13 to 18 will swim Monday and Thursday, 6:45 to 8 p.m. and Wednesday 7:45 to 9 p.m. The Clinic is open to everyone and those swimmers interested in joining the YMCA Flying Fish team should plan to take it.

Featured during the first week will be freestyle; week two, backstroke; week three, breaststroke; and week four, butterfly. The clinic emphasizes stroke evaluation, technique, and drills. Each week swimmers concentrate on the start and turn of each stroke.

The Flying Fish team, under the direction of returning coach Jason Oliver, is open to all interested swimmers ages 6 to 18 who have passed the YMCA Minnow or Advanced Beginner level. Practice begins Monday, October 14. In 1996 the team won the second place Division Swim Team award and in 1995, the first place award.

To register for the clinic or for information, call 497-9622.

Hi, my name is Cody. I once had a family and was very happy with them, and they loved me. But due to circumstances beyond their control, they could no longer keep me. Life can be cruel sometimes. But, I'm trying to be brave and optimistic about finding a new family. I'm well behaved and have lots of energy — maybe too much for families with small children. But I love to play ball with teenagers. If you're thinking about adding someone of my species to your family, please consider me.

OBITUARIES

Robert M. Dix, Esq., of Meadow Lakes, Hightstown, formerly of Lawrenceville, died September 9 at age 91.

Mr. Dix, a specialist in the area of real estate and probate law, maintained law offices at 32 Nassau Street for many years and was of counsel to the firm of Strauss and Hall at the time of his death. A former president of the Princeton Bar Association, he was also a former trustee of the Mercer County Bar Association and past chairman of its Scholarship Foundation.

He was a member of the New Jersey State Bar Association for more than 40 years and was for many years a member of its board of consultants for the Real Estate and Probate Section. In addition, he was former chairman of the Mercer County Ethics Board.

Mr. Dix was the author of numerous articles in the Practising Law Series and a lecturer for many Bar associations. He testified in many trials as a real estate and probate specialist.

Born in Southampton, England, Mr. Dix grew up in Newark and received his law degree from Rutgers University in 1927. He was admitted to the Bar in 1928 and as a counsellor at law and Master in Chancery in 1931. He practiced law in Newark from 1928 to 1943, concentrating on trying cases for New Jersey Realty Title Insurance company of Newark. Much of his career was spent in matters before the chancery courts.

Mr. Dix was corporate counsel for the board of education of Irvington, N.J., and president of the Irvington Community Chest, where he lived before moving to Lawrenceville in 1952. From 1943 to 1965, he was vice president of New Jersey Realty Title Insurance Company, in charge of its Trenton office where he handled large mortgage and land transactions in Mercer County.

MAILBOX CORRESPONDENTS: Please double-space your typewritten letters. It enables us to scan them electronically.

In 1965 he formed the law partnership of McCarthy, Hicks, Bacsik, Fams and Dix in Princeton, where he handled mainly corporate real estate transactions until 1971 when he went into private practice. In 1965 he also became president of Princeton Abstract Company.

During his professional career in Mercer County, Mr. Dix negotiated major land development transactions in the area. In Trenton, he represented the state and developers in the construction of the Treasury building, the Motor Vehicle building, the Lane-Bryant building, and 137 East State Street. In Lawrence Township, his efforts brought to the area Lenox Corp. DeLaval, Union Bag, Princeton Press, Lawrenceville Nursing Home and 3131 Princeton Pike offices as well as the Lawrencewood I and Lawrencewood II residential developments. A street in Lawrence Township, Dix Lane, is named after him.

Mr. Dix was active in Republican Party affairs for most of his life. During Malcolm Forbes' campaign for governor of New Jersey, he was chairman of the Mercer County For Forbes organization. He was a former secretary and trustee of the Rotary Clubs of both Trenton and Princeton and headed the scholarship foundation of both organizations. He was an active member of the Nassau Club, the Carteret Club and the Willows Swim Club until shortly before his death.

The Sunflower

The sunflower soars upwards
Achieving such height,
Opening a face
Full of seedling light,
Receiving the radiance of afternoon light.
If love of basking in the
Lime light were all,
She'd still stand tall,
And grow as a beanstalk
Strung upward by me
To her kingdom of light.
But what of her night?
With the season how spent,
Shadows lengthen, then fall
She droops her weary Icarus head,
Yellow petals and all,
As if she were hanged for dead,
A woeful sight,
Bewildered, bedraggled, into the night,
No longer radiant, a sorrowful sight,
Forgotten, foresaken,
Going into her night.

Monthly payments are for 30-year conventional fixed rate mortgages as detailed below.
Please ask about: Lower Downpayments • Lower Monthly Payments • Other Options.

For purchase prices up to $258,749, monthly mortgage payments (principal+interest) quoted in our ads are to qualified buyers based upon a 20% downpayment and a conventional 30-year fixed rate loan at 8.125% with 3 points. A.P.R. 8.45%. As an example, a $100,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $743. For purchase prices from $258,750 to $425,000, the monthly payments are to qualified buyers based upon a 20% downpayment and calculated at 8.5% with 3 points on a "Jumbo" 30-year fixed rate mortgage with an A.P.R. of 8.833%. An example of a $500,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $845. Figures herein are approximate and do not include property taxes, hazard insurance, or homeowners association dues for a condominium purchase. Interest rates quoted are as of June 7, 1996 and subject to change. Not responsible for typographical errors, while information is believed accurate we request that the payment be validated with a mortgage provider prior to purchase.

HELLO, GEORGIA! IT'S SO NICE TO HAVE YOU BACK WHERE YOU BELONG! HENDERSON, OF COURSE!

One of the nicest stars in the Princeton real estate profession, Georgia Graham, has returned to Henderson after a splendid career with another broker. She's a lady on the move, and despite learning the ropes at our headquarters office, (and finding where to park), Georgia has managed in a short period of time to secure two listings and to put two others under contract! She's a dream to work with... serene, placid, knowledgeable and kind! She knows the history of the town and most of the properties. Please be sure to give Georgia a call if you would like a seasoned look at the market place. Making a sale is not her top priority, making a friend is. Funny how successful that makes her!

A PROFESSOR'S HOUSE IF THERE
EVER WAS ONE! Three bedrooms, 1½
